Here's a question for you. Should a manufacturer—of radio for instance—"give the public what it wants"? Yes? Very well, what does the public want? Now, you tell us. We spend a lot of our time trying to find out and it isn't half as simple as you might think. We came to the conclusion long ago that no manufacturer can please all the people all the time and we don't try. Instead we try to maintain a range of sets one of which at least will be "just what you want". You will agree that the range shown in this leaflet offers a pretty wide selection in specification, style and price. But the sets have two things in common: Good Reproduction. In other words the sounds and "sights" that come from your set are as truthful as the price allows. Reliability (i.e. long life with a minimum of trouble). This is built into every Murphy Set, regardless of price. Sets come into the range and in time are replaced by new models. But all through our history—and we're getting quite big boys now—good reproduction and reliability have been the "constants" in Murphy Sets. One word more. A radio manufacturer can take all the care in the world but sooner or later his sets will need skilled attention. That's why we take such care in choosing our Murphy Dealers. And as you may be getting this leaflet from one of them we shall say nothing more about them except that——
